

Before the entry of Whatsapp, for cyclists, everything related to cycling was discussed on Facebook. However, things today have taken a turn. Cyclists now have access to multiple groups in different cities that they can be a part of. Here, they can not only get solutions to their cycling problem but also meet like-minded people, share and discuss 'cycling' instantly. You also get to hear some funny instances, sale post and a hell lot more.

While cycling groups are out there in dozens, there are just a few that keep beeping all day long. Some are so boring, it leaves us wondering, are people even alive? But then, it's cycling, how could you probably leave?

To give you more insights, here are a few popular cycling groups that exist in your city! We personally are a part of these groups and would surely recommend you to join them!
